Tribal Culture

written by iasexam.com | 20/02/2023

ABOUT

- . Community life: In many Indian tribal communities, communal living and resource sharing are highly valued. They frequently collaborate when making decisions because they live in close-knit communities.
- · Relationship with nature: With traditional beliefs and practices that revolve around the forests and animals, tribals have a strong connection with nature.
- Self-Sufficiency: A tribe, which is a synonym for a self-sufficient community, is a relatively closed society whose openness is inversely proportional to its self-sufficiency.
- Spiritual convictions: The worship of ancestors, nature spirits, or deities is a common spiritual practice among tribal peoples.
- · Folk art and crafts: Pottery, weaving, and jewelry making are just a few of the distinctive art forms that tribals are well-known for. Crafts like these are often handed down from generation to generation and often have spiritual or cultural significance.

TRIBAL LIFESTYLE

- TRIBAL LIFESTYLE

  Taking care of the natural world: Traditional tribal practices include living in harmony with the natural cycles and making use of natural materials for food, medicine, and housing.

  Preserving nature's resources: Limiting the use of resources to ensure their long-term availability is one sustainable practice. Examples of this include rotational farming and allowing forests to regenerate before harvesting timber.

  Decision-making based on the community: In order to guarantee that decisions are made in a sustainable and equitable manner, collective decision-making takes into account the requirements of the community as a whole.

  The importance of sharing knowledge between generations: Passing down information to the cutting edge incorporates customary information on the regular habitat and manageable practices for overseeing assets.

  Enhancement of biodiversity: Traditional agricultural practices like intercropping and seed saving, as well as the safeguarding of sacred sites that are crucial to the preservation of biodiversity, are just two examples of the diversity-preserving practices that tribal people have developed.

  Utilization of renewable energy: Renewable energy sources like wind, solar, and hodropower which so a heavened.

- diversity-preserving practices that tribal people have developed. Villization of renewable energy. Renewable energy sources like wind, solar, and hydropower, which can be expanded and modernized to provide clean energy to more people, have traditionally been used by tribal communities. Regenerative farming: Regenerative agriculture, which involves crop rotation, intercropping, and replenishing solls with organic matter, has been practiced by which accommodative for exercise.

CHALLENGES

GOVERNMENT INITIATIVES TO CONSERVE TRIBAL CULTURE

- Sankalp Se Siddhi Mission Van Dhan: The Public authority intends to lay out 50,000 Van Dhan Vikas Kendras, 3000 Haat
- · Institutional Support for Development & Marketing of Tribal Products / Produce (Central Sector Scheme)
- Tribes India Outlets: The power source will exhibit ancestral items from everywhere the nation and the power source will have a particular geographical indication (GI) and Vandhan corners
- Development of Particularly Vulnerable Tribal Groups (PVTGs): The plan covers exercises like lodging, land appropriation, land improvement, rural turn of events, creature cultivation, development of connection streets, and so forth.

  Support to Tribal Research Institutes (TRIs) and Tribal Festivals, Research Information, and Mass Education

- Scholarships for pre-matric, post-matric, and overseas education
   Support to National Scheduled Tribes Finance and Development Corporation
   Vocational Training in Tribal Area: The point of the Plan is to foster the abilities of the ST youth for various positions as well as
- independent work and to work on their financial condition by upgrading their pay.

   The system for Marketing of Minor Forest Produce (MFP) through (MSP) and Development of a Value Chain for MFP' as a measure of social safety for MFP gatherers (Centrally Sponsored Scheme).